The Project

As a flagship project for HICA, the Holderness Grange project was to be a twenty first century building that could provide a wide range of accommodation for older people with differing levels of need. All facilities were to be provided and even include a bowling green in the central court and a resident's private cinema. The development also has a number of dining areas, gymnasium, bars and socialising areas. The intention being to create a community within the development, whilst the site is within easy walking distance of Hedon Town centre.

Wharram Designs were contacted to provide all of the furniture for the public areas, including dining rooms, sitting rooms, bar and socialising areas. Supplying in excess of 300 separate items, Wharram Designs worked closely with not only the client, HICA, but also with their project contractors to ensure that all of the internal fittings and furnishing were complimented by the new furniture. Attention to detail in the selection of the fabrics and wood finishes used on the furniture ensured that carpeting, wall coverings and accessories came together to provide a stylish, practical and comfortable environment.

Project manager for Wharram Designs said: "This flagship project for HICA is an important step forward for the organisation's development and it was important for Wharram's to work effectively with all of the people involved in the build. The fabrics and finishes used have a stylish look and feel giving a high quality finish.

HICA said: "This project is very important to HICA and we worked closely with Wharram Designs to achieve the look required for this new facility. The company suggested a superb range of fabrics and the wood finishes are unique to the building and match the joinery features within the building. We are very pleased with the look and finish of the project and feel that the furniture provided by Wharram Designs has helped us to achieve a high quality and stylish environment."
